Visitors Can Tour Your Garden and Create Their Own Maps with Web-VQF

Make your website more interesting and informative with Web-VQF.

Visitors can search for plants and garden features, see their locations and create their own tour maps. The maps can be zoomed, panned and printed, and any plant or feature can be clicked to obtain additional information and images. Plants can be searched by name or by their characteristics, such as flower color, bloom time, etc.

Web-ECM: Electronic Course Module

Your horticulture courses will become powerfully interactive with Web-ECM.

Automatically publish course manuals, including plant lists, information sheets and location maps.

Students can review the plants for each course session online and use the illustrated glossary, and self-test features to hone their knowledge and enhance their skills in plant identification.

Mobile Device and QR Code Compatible

Web-VQF automatically detects mobile devices such as iPhone, Android and others, and formats its display accordingly. Easily create garden points of interest by using QR codes. Visitors point their devices at the code, and audio, video or text content is automatically displayed.
